

RURAL COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT GRANT PROGRAM

The purpose of the grant program is to assist funding community development projects conducted by rural youth organizations such as 4-H, by encouraging rural youth to conduct projects that will improve the quality of life in rural Montana communities, and to improve interaction between the rural and urban portions of these communities.

REQUIREMENTS:

1. Grants may be awarded in any amount not to exceed $500 per organization.
2. Grants will be awarded directly to rural youth organizations such as 4-H.
3. An organization will be eligible for only one grant per year.
4. Applications for grants must be made to the Montana Department of Agriculture on an application form acceptable to the department.
5. Grants are to assist in funding projects that will improve the quality of life in rural communities. Examples of eligible projects include, but are not limited to the improvement of community services or community environment; providing direct services to community members; etc.
6. Projects must be planned and conducted by youth members of organizations with the guidance of organization leaders or community leaders.
7. Preference will be given to proposals that show community involvement in the planning process. Examples of this include involvement with local government officials; civic, religious, and service organizations; government resources; educators; the media, etc.
8. Preference will be given to organizations that can obtain additional grant funds from within their communities and can show adequate resources to complete the project.
